What's new at Lily School Paris?

Since 1993 the 22nd of March celebrates World Water Day, a day dedicated to the importance of freshwater. An essential element for all forms of life, it's a resource as vital as scarce, that's facing increasing pressures from population growth, climate change, and pollution. As always, the question we ask ourselves at Lily School Paris is, what can we do to play our part? And, most importantly, what can we do to sensibilibize our kids? A great way to pass down the message is books.

Here's some of the titles we've selected:

"The Water Princess" by Susan Verde

Georgie Badie, "All the Water in the World"
by George Ella Lyon

Intergenerational

This month we joined the elderly people of the residence "Procession-Quintinie" to celebrate the beginning of Spring! We crafted some some frog habitats completed by a pond, flowers, and lot, lot of love!

Ideas for the weekend

From the 31st of March until the 6th of April, the European Days of Arts and Crafts give a unique opportunity to discover the arts and crafts sector. For this occasion, the Sainte-Chapelle opens its doors to the young public for the atelier "Stained Glass Workshop: Colors and Shapes".

The workshop introduces children to the art of stained glass by observing the windows of the Sainte-Chapelle and creating associations with colors and shapes.

Practical information:

- Location: Sainte-Chapelle, 10 boulevard du Palais, 75001
- Saturday 5th of April
- For 3-6 Year Olds
- Tickets: adults 14 € / children 8 €
- Reservation needed on www.sainte-chapelle.fr
